Mrs. Atkinson

Before the Court at Glenville.

The Governor and Other Noted Peo-

Glenville, W. Va., Oct. 3.-The most noted case which ever came up in the circuit court of Gilmer county, and one which, considering the prominence of the parties involved, and the sensational nature of the the charges preferred, probably finds no parallel instance in any State in the Union, was called by Judge Blizzard Friday morning, when court opened, and is now in course of Mrs. Myra H. Camden, widow of the late Judge G. D. Camden, of Clarksburg, was indicted at the June term of the circuit court of this county, upon a charge of having illegally signed Judge Camden's name to some receipts, Mr. Camden Sommers, one of the heirs of Judge Camden, being the chief witness against her. Mrs. Atkinson does not deny that she signed her husband's name to a great many papers during his long illness and always with his authority and the courts have many times in the past recognized her authority to do this and have accepted, without question, papers so executed.

Graham, of Clayton, W. Va., and The finding of the indictment by the grand jury created quite a sensation at the time, coming on the eve of Mrs. Camden's mar riage to Governor George W. Atkinson.

When the case was reached on the docket, Judge John Brannon appeared for Mrs. Atkinson and entered a general demurrer to the indictment; the demurrer was set for argument and Judge Brannon entered into a lengthy discussion of legal technicalities, admitting the execution of the papers on the part of Mrs. Atkinson, but denying that they were, in any sense forgeries.

Robt. G. Linn, counsel for the prosecution, conducted the argument against the demurrer, and the whole, making an effective and logical argument.

Hon. R. F. Kidd, for the defense, divided the thirty minutes allotted Judge Brannon for closing the argument, and made a telling and characteristing speech. Mrs. ceedings, and a number of items Atkinson, all through the proceedings, was an attentive listener to the arguments and frequently, during the course of Judge Brannon's remarks, expressed her approval by inclinations of the head.

any little announcements early Judge Blizzard overruled the demurrer and declared the indictment to be valid upon its face.

The defense is ably represented by Judge John Brannon and W. W. Brannon, of Weston, and Hon. R. F. Kidd, and Spencer Collins, of this place, while the State's interests are being well looked after by by Robert G. Linn, John S. Withers and Presecuting Attorney C. M. Bennett, of the local bar.

Camden Sommers, of Clarksburg, the main prosecuting witness; Mr. Ramsburg, of Frederick, Md.; W. L. Camden, of Baltimore, and other heirs of the late Judge Camden, are here for the purpose of prosecuting the case with all the vigor possible.

Glennville, Oct. 6. - For several days it has been impossible to proceed with the trial of Mrs. Atkinson because the State's main witness, Geo. W. Davisson, of Lewis county, was not present. It was claimed that he was sick so the court finally seat an officer irs and gamblers, the roughs and and a physician after him. He is now here and the trial will go on at once.

The friends of Mrs. Atkinson are very active in her behalf and yet trod the fair soil of Lewis are bringing into court many witnesses for the defense. Hon.

John J. Davis, of Clarksburg, arrived here to-day and will assist in the defense of the case.

Visitors from all parts of the country are registered at the varions hotels and the influx of the curious still continues.

The prosecution promises the introduction of some sensational

Injunction Perpetual.

Miners Must Obey The Famous Order of Judge Jackson for All Time.

The trial of the twenty-seven | guilty; $100 fine and thirty days carceration in the Clarksburg United States vs Clarence Re jail is still familiar history to guilty; $50 five and costs. Unit It will be remembered that the $50 fine and cost. United State merits of the injunction were not Jackson Wednesday, but the strike being over there was no interest taken in the proceedings. Counsel for the "strikers" and the injunction became pera law of the land.

Democrats Want to Hold Jobs.

A lot of trouble was caused by the injunction, issued by Judge Jackson, to prevent Collector A. B. White from removing some Democratic gaugers at the big Hannis distillery at Martinsburg.

The Washington authorities indefinitely suspended Wm. Butler, United States storekerper, and H. C. Berry, gauger, two of the conspiring employes. As a result neither the old nor the new men could act.

As the government was unable to furnish the necessary officers, Collector White shut down the distillery. It could neither manufacture nor withdraw goods from the bonded warehouse, where nearly one million gallons of whisky, which will have to pay $1.10 per gallon, is stored.

Several millions of dollars are invested in this great plant, which is thus stopped from doing business by the sweeping in-Democrats, in a vain endeavor to hold on to their jobs.

Judge Jackson, however, claims that the closing of the plant was no fault of his. The hearing was set for October 6 at Clarksburg, was found that two of the bills were at Wheeling, and the cases were continued and set for argument at Martinsburg, October 18.

Collector White and the other defendants were represented by District Attorney Joseph B. Gaines, and also by ex-Commissioner John W. Mason, who represented also the Commissioner of Internal Revenue and the Hannis Distillery Co.

Senator Faulkner and Stuart Walker, of Martinsburg, represented the petitioners.
